Introduction

Hate crimes against LGBTIQ+ individuals profoundly affect not only survivors but also their communities and society at large. The ENACT project—Enhancing the Capacity of Civil Society Organisations to Support Victims of Anti-LGBTQI Hate Crimes—seeks to address these impacts by equipping civil society organisations (CSOs) with tools to collaborate effectively with public authorities. This partnership aims to enhance support mechanisms for survivors, combat revictimisation, and address the overlapping factors of discrimination through an intersectional approach.

The ENACT research underlined the growing recognition across the European Union of the urgent need to address the rising incidence of hate crimes and discrimination targeting LGBTQI individuals. Despite legal frameworks that safeguard fundamental human rights, many victims of anti-LGBTQI+ violence and bias-motivated incidents still face significant barriers when seeking justice, protection, and support. These barriers include underreporting, limited institutional response, insufficient specialised services, societal stigma, and lack of knowledge of procedures and available services.

In response, the present document introduces a Portfolio of Services aimed at ensuring that all Member States deliver, either directly or through partnerships with civil society organisations, a minimum standard of support to victims of anti-LGBTQI+ hate crimes and discrimination, in alignment with the Victims' Rights Directive (Directive 2012/29/EU).

The Portfolio of Services provides essential and practical information on the core areas of support available to victims of anti-LGBTQI+ hate crimes and discrimination. It outlines a comprehensive range of services, including psychosocial assistance, legal aid, and advocacy—all of which are vital for addressing the immediate and long-term needs of victims. Designed with accessibility and usability in mind, the Portfolio allows users to easily navigate the different types of services offered, organised by area of focus—such as mental health, legal rights, and social reintegration. Each service entry includes clear descriptions, eligibility criteria (where applicable), and contact details, enabling individuals to promptly connect with the respective providers. Whether victims are seeking emotional support, legal representation, or simply guidance on available options, the Portfolio serves as a practical, user-centred tool that empowers them to take the first steps toward safety, justice, and recovery.
